SOLDIERS' MEALS GOOD

Returns From a Trip to Europe Talks of War Camp Community Service.

New York, Aug. 29.—Judge Ben B. Lindsey, of Denver, Colo., who has just returned from a trip of several months through England, France and Italy, has become an enthusiastic worker in the ranks of the war camp community service for the commissions on train-ranks of the war camp community service for the commissions on training camp activities of the war and navy departments. So imbued is he with the conviction of the fundamental necessity of this work, as a result of his observation of the armies abroad, that he says:

"If I had my way, war camp community service would follow the American soldier around the world. England and France especially are in crying need of the kind of work we are doing here through war camp community service. In both England and France we would find the people ready to co-operate with us and the soldiers themselves ready to welcome us. All of those who have been privileged to visit the front testify to the fine physical and mental condition of our boys. I am convinced that one cause is the kind of work that has been done for our fighting forces by the people at home."

kind of work that has been done for our fighting forces by the people at home."

Victory is Certain.

"I have gradually come to see this war from stwo major angles. First, there is the physical side—that is, its forces of violence. These depend upon the physical strength, the equipment of the soldier, and what he does with these agencies. Then there is the spiritual or moral side. The spiritual and moral aspects of the problem are closely linked with what we do for the soldier. Generally speaking, how well the soldier does his part depends in a very large measure upon how well we do our part.

"The extent to which the moral and physical aspect or angle of the war has been emphasized is profoundly stimulating. It presents one of the most promising phases of the world conflict, as it relates directly not only to the welfare of the soldier, but to the welfare of the soldier of the world, speaking from the angle of physical force and violence. Were there such instrumentalities of devastation as the airplane and the submarine, to say nothing of the essentially brutal poison gas, the use of which was initiated by the Germans. The allies have been compelled to meet the forces of violence projected by the enemy with equal or inferior violence, just as we meet one poison with another that serves as an antidote. But the allies stand alone in the use of finer and higher forces which find their expression, in part, in the great services being rendered humanity by the agencles working for the commissions on training camp activities. Because of cation, will have exceptional opportunity to become candidates for officers' commissions, and will be regularly enlisted as members of the United States army while continuing their college or professional studies. It is generally understood that the war department expects to allow young men of the S. A. T. C. units to remain in school until their services are actually needed. It is further definitely announced that college men receiving military instruction will not be debarred from commissions by reason of their youth.

President Gilbreath, of the Normal school, and President, of their congratulations upon the success of their efforts to establish the S. A. T. C. in their respective schools. It is confidently expected that the attendance of young men will be very materially increased as a consequence of the establishment of the military units.

Mr. Murray cabled to headquarters here for permission to purchase ten motor trucks and ten side car motorcoles to nelp carry supplies from points of deharkation to the front line. Five rilinutes later the required permission was on its way to Paris, and the motor vehicles were soon after put into operation. They now are a part of the Knights of Columbus motor service.

NATIONAL TENNIS MEET

Younger Element From Fifteen Cities Particites at Forest Hills.

Perhaps the most convincing evi-dence of widespread interest in the dence of widespread interest in the tennis season now approaching its climax in the championship at Forest Hills is the remarkable success of the junior and boys' program. These tournaments are in their third season, having been started in 1916 by the United States National Lawn Tennis association, with a view to securing a uniform development of tennis throughout the country.

In thirty cities designated as tennis centers, tournaments have been held

In thirty cities designated as tennis centers, tournaments have been held whose winners are eligible to compete for the national championships in the junior and boys' classes, whose age limits are 19 and 16 years respectively. Preliminary tournaments precede the tennis center events which are open only to the winners of the preliminaries. The tennis center champions thereby qualify for the national. By this series of elimination events a tremendous number of youngsters become interested, and by playing steadily, acinterested, and by playing steadily, ac-quire much valuable tournament experience, The fact that Vincent Richards, of

New York, the boy champion, who will not be 16 until next spring, could win the national doubles championship when paired with William T. Tilden. At the request of the Government which is in dire need of peach and plum pits to be used in the manufacture of gas masks, many department stores, merchants and societies have placed huge receptacles on the sidewalks to collect the much-needed stones. The pits are burned and the charcoal placed in layers in the gas masks for use as a filter.

Seventeen Years of Asthma Had Broken Her Spirit.

LUNG-VITA GAVE RELIEF

Mrs. Wilson Says She Can Scarcely Realize She Was

"I had become so weak and dispir-ited that I had abandoned hope of ever seeing another well day. Every time my hair was washed an acute at-tack of asthma followed and even the slightest exertion exhausted me. Six weeks ago I began taking Lung-Vita weeks ago I began taking Lung-Vita and my improvement has been wonderful. Not one single day have I spent in bed since beginning with Lung-Vita. My appetite has improved until eating is a pleasure. I sleep sounder and am more refreshed by it than at any time within the past fifteen years and my strength has improved so much that I can scarcely feel I have been sick ever. Lung-Vita has already made me a new woman."

Lung-Vita is sold by most druggists and dealers, but should yours not have it in stock yet write Nashville Medicine Co., Nashville, Tenn., for free booklet.—(Adv.)
